Best books for 3rd graders on epic

Is your library closed? Book budget running low? Kids acting bored when what they really need is a new book to let their imaginations fly? Ebooks may be you answer. When you need to stretch your book budget as much as possible, a reading app is a lifesaver, especially if you have a voracious reader. (Note: this post is not sponsored; it does contain affiliate links) Epic! is a reading app I have written about before. It's a reading app dedicated to a providing a quality library of children's books for ages 0-12. Epic! offers over 40,000 ebooks, audiobooks, read-to-me books and some educational videos. It is free for teachers and librarians and parents can test drive it free for 30 days. I've received several requests to recommend my favorite books on the Epic! app, so I did! This book list is HUGE, and it will save you tons of time searching through all the titles on the reading app. Keep these guidelines in mind: Honestly, I adore all of the books on this list, but I've included an asterisk next to titles I especially love.Books are listed in no particular order.I've left off author names in an effort to get this list to you in a timely fashion. This is not an exhaustive list. If you don't see the title here, it doesn't mean the book is not worth reading! Keep in mind they have 40,000 titles! Some of these titles may only be "read-to-me" titles or audiobooks.If a book shows up on "popular" lists, I probably haven't listed it here because it is already easy to find!A sure fire way to find more books is to search for the author of the book you just read. Happy reading! Picture Books on Epic! Epic! recommends books by age, so you when searching in the explore feature, set the filter to the desired age group. The jewel in the crown is their collection of National Geographic books. I haven't listed many here because I simply haven't read many of the others, but of course your child can search by subject. National Geographic booksWinged WondersSeparate is Never Equal*Explore Spring!The Moon Book by Gail GibbonsEarthrise*Rocket to the Moon*Sea Otter Heroes*Flying Deep Biographies I was quite impressed with the range of picture book biographies in the Epic! library. Here are a few I recommend that are well-written and have great illustrations, and you will find many others. Rebel Girls (series)The Right Word: Roget and His Thesaurus*Before She Was Harriet*Frida Kahlo and Her AnimalitosTrombone Shorty*Counting on Katherine*The Book ItchBasketball BellesThe Boo-Boos That Changed the WorldDiego Rivera: His World and OursHiawatha the PeacemakerRichard Wright and the Library CardEsquivel: Space Age Sound ArtistRuth Bader Ginsberg: The Case of RBG vs. Inequality*The Amazing Age of John Roy LynchWhoosh!: Lonnie Johnson's Super-Soaking Stream of Inventions*What to Do about Alice? To repeat myself, this is by no means a comprehensive list of all the reading choices on the Epic! app. You and your children will find many others. The search function doesn't always bring up every book you may enjoy, but the suggested titles at the end of each book will also aid you in your search. And remember, you can always try out Epic! free for 30 days! Happy reading! Includes Google Apps™The Teacher-Author indicated this resource includes assets from Google Workspace (e.g. docs, slides, etc.).UPDATED I Love the EPIC APP and so do my students. It has a wide variety of FREE digital books your students can choose from to read both fiction and nonfiction. Students can use an iPad, Chrome Book or Laptop to read. It also allows you to make profiles for each of your students. They can earn reading rewards and the students really like that. I came up with this product idea because my students wanted to find books within their AR level to read and take quizzes on. It made it easy to provide students with a list of books they could choose from that had AR quizzes. This book list is a sample of the entire product I created for 1st -3rd grade. It is intended to help you and your students get started with using the EPIC APP along with Accelerated Reader. I have provided suggested books non-fiction and fiction for your students to read. I hope they enjoy this as much as my students have enjoyed it! I have used this for independent reading, buddy reading and my intervention groups. Having the EPIC APP on our classroom iPads made a big difference in my students reading. Page 2
